REHOMING YOUR ANIMAL

Adoptapet.com

Visit rehome.adoptapet.com to create a profile of your pet, and it will be seen by millions of pet adopters. You then will have the ability to review applications on your pet, as well as meet possible new adopters. Rehome will provide you with everything you need to protect the transfer of your pet ownership. It is simple, safe, and FREE.

To List Your Pet

1. Go to <https://rehome.adoptapet.com/>
2. Create a pet profile
3. Be sure to include a positive description and quality pictures

Your pet will then be featured. It's that easy!

Rehome also allows for you to ask for an adoption fee. If you choose.

Additionally, Rehome encourages you to meet potential adopters in Petco stores.

Describing Your Pet

When writing a profile for your pet who needs a new home, you might be tempted to share all the reasons why you are rehoming your pet or share all the "negative" information up front. Don't! Always be honest but always remain positive.

It's important to remember that what might be negative to you may not matter to others. For example, a dog who does not like cats might make a perfect pet for someone with a cat allergy! Also, remember that the word "children" has a different meaning to everyone. Someone might consider an 18-year-old a "child" and see "no children" as a reason they cannot adopt, but your pet might only need a home without toddlers. Use the profile to showcase your pet.

Remember That Your Pet's Personality is Always a Positive

Instead of...

Needs a lot of exercise
Is aggressive towards children
Needs a lot of attention
Doesn't get along with cats/dogs

Try...

Will make a great running buddy
Needs a home without children
Loves people
Prefers to be your only pet

REHOMING YOUR ANIMAL

Don't Rule Out Adopters Before They Can Contact You

You may think your dog would do best in a house with a yard, but what if someone lives in a condo with a dog park? Or someone who runs on the beach every day? Your cat might prefer someone who works from home – but what about someone who works part-time, or a house with lots of family members with someone usually at home? Be open-minded and encourage potential families to contact you.

Make Sure You Use an Email Address that You Check Regularly

The Rehome sites allows adopters to ask you questions using the platform and you should get an email to alert you. Don't let questions go unanswered!

Here is an example of a positive description for a dog named Luna. Luna needs a new home because she is not getting along with the three young children in the home. Her mom writes:

Luna is a sweet and friendly dog who has lived with another dog and even a cat! She is very smart and would love an owner who can take her for walks and teach her tricks. She is housebroken and kennel-trained. Luna is a very loyal dog. She is not pushy and will seek your affection on her own terms. Luna would prefer not to live in a home with small children. She is spayed, microchipped and up to date on her vaccines.

Most Importantly – Use Quality Pictures

The best profiles have a variety of pictures where you can clearly see the pet. We suggest at least four – one of the pet's face, one of the pet with a family member or other pets, one that shows the pet's size and, if possible, a video. Pictures should be in focus, colorful and without a filter.

PetFinder

Petfinder is a for-profit internet company that operates the largest online pet adoption website serving all of North America. The company reports that it currently lists more than 315,000 adoptable pets from nearly 14,000 animal shelters and rescue groups. While you are not able to list your pet to rehome on PetFinder, they do offer resources and tools on their site.

MORE TIPS FOR REHOMING YOUR ANIMAL

It's not an easy decision to find a new home for your pet. Finding a home for your pet on your own and keeping them out of the shelter is beneficial to both your pet and others in need. The shelter can be a very stressful environment for any pet.

A healthy pet is easier to re-home. Make certain your pet is up to date on all vaccinations. Provide copies of the vet paperwork. If your pet is not spayed or neutered, we highly recommend getting this done. Please refer to the Spay/ Neuter Section of this guide for low-cost services.

Ask family, friends and co-workers if they know anyone who is looking for a new pet. It is better for your pet if you are able to re-home him or her yourself. Ask people in person, but also leave a flyer so they can contact you if they know of someone or decide to adopt your pet themselves.

Create flyers, post to Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Next Door, and on church, work or veterinary/pet store, restaurant and coffee shop bulletin boards. Make colorful and creative flyers highlighting special information about your pet.

- Be as descriptive as possible (name, weight, breed, gender, pet's health, play habits, likes & dislikes)
- Tell a story – many write the story from the animal's perspective.
- Include recent photo(s)
- Include your name and contact information (phone number / email address).
- Include the date you posted & date you need a home by
- Consider asking for a rehoming fee. This will help cover the cost of getting your pet spayed/neutered, and up to date on vaccinations prior to rehoming. You can always choose to donate the fee to your local animal shelter!

So you found a lost animal. Now what?

Here are some important tips to help that animal get home.

Home is where the pet's heart is!

Collar and microchip

If you can safely approach the animal, start by calling/texting the number on its collar. You can also visit a vet or a shelter and ask them to scan for a microchip.

Go for a walk!

While being safe and practicing social distancing, walk the dog in the neighborhood it was found. Ask neighbors for help! This is also the perfect time to post "found pet" signs.

Animal Shelters

Google local animal shelters and complete an online found pet report. Send a photo of the pet with the date/location and your contact information.

Social Media

Take a photo of the animal and post it on social media, such as the Lost & Found Pets Hampton Roads group on Facebook, as well as similar sections on NextDoor and Craigslist. Include the location where the animal was found.

Finding Rover and PawBoost

Take a good, clear photo of the pet and register it on FindingRover.com for free! PawBoost.com provides a virtual flyer.

Your pet is lost! Oh no!

Here are some important tips to help your animal get home.

Take a walk!

Scout your neighborhood for your pet, calling and holding pet's favorite treat. This is also the perfect time to hang fliers!

Social Media

Post a photo of your pet on social media, especially Lost&Found Pets Hampton Roads on Facebook. NextDoor and Craigslist also have lost and found pet sections. Include the location the pet is missing from.

Animal Shelters

If your pet is lost in Norfolk, NACC is your first stop. Contact us at 757-441-5505 or email nacc@norfolk.gov. NACC's website is updated hourly.

Send the pet's photo and your contact information. Check with other Norfolk shelters and shelters in other cities, too.

Contact a vet

Call your veterinarian as well as any vet offices near your home.

An ounce of prevention!

Protect your pet and pave the way home. Make sure your pet wears a collar with its name, along with your contact info as well as city & rabies tags. Microchip your pet, and ensure your contact information is updated.

Finding Rover and PawBoost

Take a good, clear photo of the pet and post on FindingRover.com for free! PawBoost.com allows you to create a virtual flier that is distributed throughout the community.

What to do if you find kittens

► Are the kittens visibly sick or injured?

YES: Take the kittens to a veterinary clinic immediately.

NO: Estimate the kittens' age by what they look like.

Can you see the nest or hiding spot?

Avoid handling the kittens and watch them from a distance to see if the mama cat returns to care for them. If she does, leave the kittens with her, since it greatly increases their chances of survival.

What if the mama cat doesn't return after six or more hours?

Take action by doing one of the following:

Take Action

- 1. Care for the kittens. Take the kittens to your local vet for a check-up and vaccines. Or foster the kittens through your local shelter's foster program.
- 2. If you can't care for the kittens yourself, find someone who can. Ask your family, friends and neighbors. When the kittens you've cared for reach eight weeks old, they're ready to be spayed or neutered, micro-chipped and adopted.
- 3. Can't care for the kittens or find someone who can? Ask your local shelter for assistance.

NACC 5585 Sabre Road | (757) 441-5505 | nacc@norfolk.gov

Taking newborn kittens to your local shelter should be a last resort.

Many animal shelters are unable to provide the around-the-clock care that kittens need. In fact, at many shelters (without the help of foster homes), newborn kittens are at risk of being killed within 24 hours of arriving. The best thing to do for kittens under four weeks of age is to leave them with the mama cat until they are eating on their own, and then contact your local shelter for spay/neuter resources.
